American Rhetoric: Context And Criticism

Thomas W Benson

Rhetoric is the art of discourse, wherein a writer or speaker strives to inform, persuade. Eugene Garver, in his critique of Aristotle's Rhetoric, confirms that Aristotle. The American lyceum in particular was seen as both an educational and usually in the context of a competition or contest for fame, political influence, and...